

Legal Disclaimer – Tong Tejani Website

Tong Tejani PLLC's website content is provided for information only. In providing information via our website, we are not providing legal advice. Moreover, the information provided on our website might not reflect recent developments. Accordingly, you should not act or forgo any action based on information provided on our website without first seeking advice that is appropriate for your particular circumstances from a properly licensed attorney. Tong Tejani PLLC expressly disclaims any and all liability for any actions undertaken based on any of the content of its website.

Tong Tejani PLLC is not responsible for any third-party content or information provided on or through the website.

Information on this website may be considered advertising under the rules of professional conduct applicable to our legal practice.

Although this website may be viewed from any of the 50 United States of America and territories, as well as any country, Tong Tejani is a Virginia Professional Limited Liability Company. Zohra Tejani is a Virginia licensed attorney. Joyce Tong Oelrich is an attorney licensed in the District of Columbia, New York, and Massachusetts.

Emailing us or the firm or submitting an on-line form does not create an attorney-client relationship. You may inquire about scheduling an introductory meeting, conducting a conflicts check, or being added to our mailing list. However, do not request legal advice or send confidential or time-sensitive information please. Any information sent to us via Internet e-mail or through this website is not secure or confidential.

All meetings (in-person or virtual) are by appointment only.